Elder Hinckley To Address Students

Gordon B. Hinckley, member of the Quorum of the Twelve Apostles of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will address students at Devotional Assembly Tuesday.

SUBJECT of Elder Hinckley's speech will be based on a discussion prepared by Stephen Covey, administrative assistant to BYU President Ernest Wilkinson.

Hinckley has been a member of the presiding councils of the church since 1958, when he was elevated to a position as Assistant Counsel of the Twelve.

Hinckley to that calling, Elder Hinckley filled the positions of First Sunday School Board member, executive secretary of the General Missionary Committee, and general president.

He is a director of Recording Arts, Inc., and a director of Radio Service Corp. of Utah, which operates KSL radio and television stations in Salt Lake City.

COVEY'S CASE discussion upon which Elder Hinckley will base his speech is as follows:

"Mark thought of Sunday night's sacrament meeting and the resolves and promises he'd made to himself after being so inspired.

"HOW MANY times have I made promises to myself and broken them time after time, he thought, now thoroughly disgusted with himself.

"Boisterous, loud laughter suddenly made Mark aware of the 'friends' he was with. The swells of laughter increased. Off-colored jokes had been gaily passed back and forth, but now the conversation had changed. The jokes were not too bad, but he never felt right about listening to, or passing stories about other people.

"HOW MANY reputations have been ruined by this kind of talk," he silently questioned.

"He reflected now on a similar experience of last Friday. He and two friends were taking their girls to a movie. The choices available were poor. He had read enough of the advertisements and reviews to know they portrayed the sick and slimy. But again he held back, not revealing his real thoughts about wasting his time in a trashy movie.

"'I'M NOT A HOLY JOE' but I've got to stand for something. Why do I sit here and listen to this garbage?" He wanted to get up and walk out—to change the subject—to tell them all off. But he just sat there, not having the courage to do anything."

Security Notes Fine Increase

BYU Security has announced the full schedule of new parking fine schedules.

VIOLATION of student parking will cost $5 this year instead of $2. Failure to register penalties have gone up from $5 to $25.

Improper display and falsification of records will also cost violators $15 instead of $5 as it was last year.

CAPTAIN Sven Nielson said there will be no point system in operation this year. After students have received five tickets, they may be suspended or some other disciplinary action taken.

Capt. Nielson reminded students that none of the fine money goes to Security; it goes into the general fund of BYU.

ANY SUGGESTIONS or recommendations on the fine schedules should be taken to ASBYU President Bob Christiansen, Nielson added.

First Conference Loss Stops Stunned Cougars

by Gary Wood
Associate Sports Editor

LARAMIE, Wyo. — Brigham Young's game, but outcoasted Cougars, unable to come up with the key play, bowed to the Laramie jinx, 34-6 before a near-record homecoming crowd of 19,871.

THE LOSS, coupled with Arizona State's upset of New Mexico, vaulted Wyoming and New Mexico into the Western Athletic Conference lead, each with a 2-1 Conference record. BYU is tied for second at 1-1.

The Cougars, playing their last 1965 game in front of the home fans, methodically picked apart the Puma defense while holding the Cougars—WAC offense leaders going into the game—to 216 total yards, 146 of those via passing.

WYOMING, its title hopes and national prestige on the line after being smashed by Utah, 42-3, two weeks back, gained 204 yards on the ground and 167 through the air lanes for a 371 total.

After a scoreless first quarter in which the Cat gridgers kept the Pokes bottled up in their own territory, the visitors presented their hosts with two TD's on a bad pass from center and a defensive lapse.

WYOMING was forced to punt shortly after the teams changed fields, but the Cougars were unable to move the ball past mid-field and when halfback Ben Laverty went back to punt, he had to chase the errant hike back to his own 14.

From there the opportunist Cougars needed only four plays to hit paydirt, with fullback Mike Davaport taking it in on a one-yard plunge.

THE 'POKES scored again on their next series of downs, after holding the Mountain Cats on their own 55. Laverty's punt went out

Homecoming Hustlers Begin Ticket, Date Drive Event

Three hundred coeds began their work on campus Monday as Homecoming Hustlers.

CHAIRMAN of the girls, Randy Halstone, has armed them with all sorts of information about Homecoming Week, Nov. 1-7.

These girls may be recognized by signs they wear bearing the Homecoming theme, "Infinity Plus." The bottom of the sign encourages students to "Ask Me," said Halstone.

THE HOMECOMING Hustlers will be telling of all events of Homecoming Week.

TUESDAY, Nov. 2 at 10 a.m. will be the Homecoming Assembly. Queen Kim Hoake will be crowned and with her attendants, Margaret Dyreng and Christine Payne, will be introduced to the studentbody.

The Townsmen will provide music for a matinee dance Wednesday from 2:30 to 6 p.m. There will be various dance contests, and the winners of these will receive prizes provided by the local merchants.

THE HOMECOMING Hustlers will make all the events clearer to all those that ask, especially visitors, Halstone remarked.

He announced the Hustlers will be greeting some special visitors from the sky Tuesday at 11 a.m. on the main quad in front of the Eyring Science Building.

Getting the full "treatment" from BYU's Homecoming Hustlers is Randy Halstone, Hustlers Chairman. The coeds will give information on all Homecoming activities.

Everything A-Ok For Gemini Flight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla (AP)—Gemini VI, America's most complicated and vital space venture to date, will blast off Pad 19 here Monday in an attempt at man's first linkup in outer space. WALTER M. SCHIRRA, Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford will guide their craft to a rendezvous with an Atlas-Agena rocket to be launched from Cape Kennedy about one hour and 41 minutes before the actual lift-off.

Projected launch time is 9:41 a.m. (AST).

The astronauts' chief job in this midway point of the Gemini program is to catch up to the rocket, lock on to it at some point 185 miles above the earth, and then keep on to it for hours.

SCHIRRA and Stafford conducted final rehearsals Sunday sitting in an exact model of their Gemini VI spacecraft. The two astronauts have spent more than 125 hours in simulated flight, running through the crucial maneuvers again and again.

Reports from the weatherman were hopeful late Sunday night. Forecasters said skies would be mostly cloudy at launch time but that this would not interfere with the space shot.

THE GEMINI VI flight plan does not call for the astronauts to help the docking. The Agena rocket and the Gemini VI are rigged with lock-in couplings which can be released on capsule command.

On successive orbits, Schirra, sitting in the command pilot's seat, will make major changes in the Gemini VI pathway in space. He will gradually raise the orbit and finally shape into a circle to nearly duplicate the circular path of the Agena.

AT THE SAME TIME, its lower orbit and faster speed will have brought the Gemini much closer to the Agena target. As the fourth orbit begins, the Gemini will be flying about 17 miles below and 35 miles behind the rocket.

When the Agena is finally ready for docking, a green light on the rocket flashes. Gently, Schirra will coax his spacecraft's nose toward that green light.

Esquire Founder, Author To Speak Via Telephone

Arnold Gingrich, publisher and founding editor of Esquire magazine, will speak via teletype to the Brigham Young University Communications Symposium, Monday at 4:10 p.m.

HAVING played an active role in encouraging and publishing outstanding American and European writers over the past thirty years, he is recognized as one of the country's leading editors.

He became editor of Esquire at the age of 29, one of the youngest men to attain such a position in the national magazine field. He held the position from 1933 to 1945, during which time he was also editor of Coronet magazine and Apparel Arts (now Gentlemen's Quarterly), the leading men's fashion magazine.

HE RETURNED to Esquire in 1952, becoming instrumental in shaping the magazine into the world renowned publication it is today. An author in his own right, he has written two books, "Cast Down the Ladder" and "The Well Tempered Angler."

The lecture will be held in 384 JK Bldg. at 4:10 p.m. All students are invited to the lecture which will be relayed to BYU through means of long distance telephone. Students will be able to see Mr.

Gingrich through means of a paravision projected onto a screen. The session will also be open to questions from students who speak to Mr. Gingrich via telephone.

Johnson To Convalesce At Texas White House

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson attended services at a little white church in his home town Sunday and heard an earnest prayer for his rapid recovery. It was his first public appearance since his Oct. 8 operation.

JOHNSON was restless during the services—whispering to Mrs. Johnson, twisting around to see who was in pews behind.

His movements were slow and cautious. He eased himself up and down with a hand on the arm of Mrs. Johnson or one of his secretaries, Vicki McCammon.

JOHNSON's convalescence is expected to keep him at his ranch most of the time for two months or more. But he has made it clear in talks with associates that he is looking forward to the next session of Congress which he expects to pass most of the administration measures that were sidetracked in the session just closed.

And in these informal chats he voices satisfaction with the progress of his domestic program.

Kitten Eleven Derails Ute Papooses

SALT LAKE—In the last minute and a half of play, Quarterback Marc Lyons threw two touchdown passes to Split-End Tom Newsom to give the BYU Freshmen a 27-20 victory over the University of Utah Frosh in the Ute Stadium Friday afternoon.

THE KITTENS came alive with three minutes left in the game after it looked as though a BYU fumble and inadequate pass defense had given the Papooses a third quarter touchdown that would stand up. Lyons moved the Kittens from their own 27 down to the Utah 22 where he found Newsom free in the end zone, evening the score at 20-20 with 1:31 remaining.

Although Duane Gettman missed the extra point he recovered his own outside kick and the Kittens had the ball on the Utah 47. A pass to Newsom moved the ball to the 21 where Lyons again found Newsom all alone in the end zone in the winning touchdown. Gettman then kicked his third extra point of the day and BYU had the lead with 47 seconds left to play.

Cowboys Dominate Game

of the end zone and on the sixth Cowboy play from scrimmage speedster Gary McLean got behind the Y secondary defense and rambled all the way to the goal posts for a 68-yard effort.

Jerry DeFoyster's two PAT's made the score 14-0 by halftime.

AFTER the intermission Wyoming took the kickoff and proceeded to march 80 yards in 16 plays to score, eating up 6:36 of the clock in the process.

With linebackers Bob Grant and Jim Kleck sweeping the ends and Davernot booming up the middle, the Cowpokes ran the score to 28-0 by the end of the third quarter and the 'Poke second string added another with 1:41 left to play in the game.

BYU avoided a shutout on a scoring drive right after the start of the final quarter on John Ogle's running and Virgil Carter's passing, the principal play being a 54-yard pass-run play by Carter aimed at halfback Tim Russell which carried to the Wyoming four-yard line.

End Phil Odle scored on a look-in pass from Carter, but another attempt to Odle failed of point try.
